

CO-VID-19 Update

To all our subscribers, we issue this special newsletter to help equip you and your business during this time of uncertainty as coronavirus (CO-VID19) spreads as a global pandemic.

Please be assured that Corney & Lind Lawyers remain committed to serving our clients well and our office will remain open. We will stay open for business right through this period even if our lawyers need to work from home for a period of time.

CO-VID19 articles to help charities, businesses & individuals

How to vaccinate against CO-VID19 threat to your business or job

Barry Klopper (senior lawyer) has put together a succinct 6-step action plan as a practical guide to help employers and employees best deal with the threat of coronavirus and the impact it will have on charitable institutions, businesses and jobs.

Read it here

CO-VID19 and the effect it will have for creditors statutory demands

Coronavirus has caused economic slowdown and some panic. Companies may desire to serve statutory demand notices to seek to collect debts and thereafter to wind-up the debtor if they do not pay. In this article, Barry Klopper, discussed what a statutory demand is, effective execution and what to do if you're served with a demand.

Read it here

Wills and EPOA made remotely

With most businesses seeking to work remotely during this time, we understand that avoiding travel or public places will be a priority for some. We have put together an offering to have simple Will(s) and Enduring Power of Attorney(s) prepared remotely and posted or emailed to you with clear signing instructions.

Find out more

Will my retail shop or commercial lease be affected by coronavirus?

Thanks to the Morrison government stimulus, retail shops and small commercial businesses will have with some form of relief with write offs, wage support and cash flow assistance. Having helped tenants negotiate commercial and retail leases on entry and regularly acting in disputes, we are happy to offer assistance to commercial/retail shop owners or commercial tenants (and landlords) negotiate and document alleviation of financial pressure during this period.

Read more here

Visit our website

